

LONDON SLEPT
DURING RAID
BY ZEPPELINS

German Airships Flew Over Certain Outlying Sections of the City, but the People Are Ignorant of Facts Except for Bare Announcement by Admiralty

NUMEROUS FIRES PER-HAPS PART OF PLAN

People of the City Are Going About Their Usual Tasks and the Papers Are Prohibited from Publishing Information Except Admiralty Announcement

London, June 1, 5:01 p. m.—Ninety bombs were dropped in the raid on London last night by Zeppelins. Four persons were killed and a few injured. No public buildings were damaged. This information was given out officially.

London, June 1.—Zeppelin airships long expected, reached London last night, but the several million inhabitants slept peacefully through the raid and all they know about it is something contained in the admiralty's brief announcement that the raiders flew over certain of the outlying sections of the city. The official announcement makes mention also of numerous fires which may or may not have been connected with the raid.

None of the evening newspapers has yet published any information or further details to supplement the bare announcement from the admiralty. The ordinary life and business of London is being carried on as usual except for occasional small groups which may be seen discussing with intense curiosity the crop of wild rumors.

So far as the public here is allowed to know, a general full prevailed on the different military fronts Sunday. It is apparent, nevertheless, that fighting is still proceeding along the river San in the vicinity of Przemyśl. This is the extent of the information given out by Vienna which contents itself with the bare mention of the fact but says nothing either in confirmation or denial of the reported Russian successes at that point.

The near east apparently is again in a ferment with a Bulgaria-Roumanian entente reported as among the possibilities of the near future and Constantinople is said to be excited over the recent British submarine raid and the dismantling of the cruiser Sultan Selim, formerly the Goeben. According to despatches from Athens, there is a party in the Turkish capital that is demanding the opening of the straits and immediate peace overtures.

ADMIRALTY'S STATEMENT
Says Many Fires Cannot Be Connected With Raid on London.

London, June 1.—The official press bureau issued the following announcement last night: "Zeppelins are reported to have been seen near New Ramsgate (on the Kent coast, 67 miles east-southeast of London) and Beckwood (17 miles east-northeast of London) and in certain outlying districts of London. "Many fires are reported, but these cannot be absolutely connected with the airship visits. "Further particulars will be issued as soon as they can be collected and collated."

Prior to giving out the above communication the official press bureau issued a notice reminding the newspapers that in the interest of public safety no statement whatever should be published dealing with places in the neighborhood of London reached by aircraft or the course supposed to be taken by them. It was added that an admiralty communication would give all the information which might properly be published.

SERBIA RESUMES
HER OPERATIONS

Claims Are Made of Successful Artillery Engagement Against Austria, First Time in Many Months.

Nish, Serbia, via London, June 1, 11:20 a. m.—The resumption of military activity on the part of Serbia against Austria is indicated in an official announcement to-day, in which claims are made of a successful artillery engagement as a result of which a battalion of Austrians in the northeast of Capinova was dispersed. Considerable military activity on the part of the Serbians has been noted also on the Albanian frontier. Several months have passed since Serbia has been actively engaged in important military operations against Austria, the last heavy fighting being reported in December.

MURDERED A WOMAN.
Then Manchester, N. H., Man Tried to Kill Himself.

Manchester, N. H., June 1.—Mrs. Solomon Ferson was shot to death yesterday at her home, 12 Cedar street, and Solomon Ferson, aged 35, is dying from a bullet wound in the body.

The police charge that George killed the woman, who kept the boarding house where he lived, and then turned the revolver on himself.

Mrs. Ferson and George were seen side by side half an hour before the tragedy leaning from a window of the tenement, neighbors say.

George has a wife and five children in Syria. Mr. and Mrs. Ferson have two children, aged 12 and 7. Mr. Ferson is employed in a tannery, at South Manchester.

Four weeks ago a brother of Mr. Ferson received a letter which charged George with being intimate with Mrs. Ferson. George denied the charge, as did Mrs. Ferson, whereupon Mr. Ferson is reported to have said: "We shall continue to be friends, but as soon as the time expires for which you have paid your board in advance, four weeks, it would be well for you to get another boarding house and then there will be no occasion for talk."

Yesterday three shots were heard, fired in quick succession, within the Ferson home. Simon Howe, a neighbor, at once entered the apartments and found the woman and the man on the floor of Mr. and Mrs. Ferson's sleeping room. He took the revolver, a .38-caliber weapon, from the hand of George and called the police. The woman was shot twice through the body and died just as she reached the hospital. George who shot himself through the liver, was still alive at a late hour, but the opinion is given by the physicians that he cannot survive.

The body of Mrs. Ferson has been turned over to the county authorities, who will make an investigation. George was employed in the Stark mills.

WILSON HOLDS UP MESSAGE

His Statement on Mexican Affairs Postponed to To-morrow

IT WAS ANNOUNCED IN WASHINGTON

What Caused the President to Change Mind Was Not Announced

Washington, D. C., June 1.—President Wilson announced to-day that he probably would defer making public his statement on Mexican affairs until to-morrow morning.

It is said that the president will serve notice on the revolutionary leaders that looting and pillaging in the name of "liberty" must be stopped and that order should be re-established.

He will warn Carranza, Villa and Zapata and the other leaders that they must compose their differences or the United States will be compelled to act for the protection of the 15,000,000 who have been reduced to a state of starvation.

Proposes Arms Embargo.

An embargo against the exportation of arms to Mexico and against imports of foodstuffs to the United States as a step toward relieving famine conditions below the Rio Grande has been proposed to President Wilson by Miss Mabel Boardman of the executive committee of the American Red Cross.

Reports to the Red Cross and to the state department indicate that in spite of the famine, foodstuffs are being shipped out of Mexico to the United States, Cuba and elsewhere, and in the United States are being sold cheaper than over the Mexican line.

HARDWICK GIRL A SUICIDE.

Annie Lorimer, Aged 18, Drowned Herself, It Is Decided.

Hardwick, June 1.—Dr. B. H. Stone of the state laboratory of hygiene yesterday held an autopsy on the body of Miss Annie Lorimer which was found Sunday afternoon in Lake Hardwick and it was decided that the young woman committed suicide. Though no motive is ascribed for such an act the physicians are satisfied that Miss Lorimer took her own life.

Miss Lorimer, who was 18 years old, attended a prayer meeting at the Baptist church last Thursday and was not seen after leaving church, until her body was found in about three feet of water by Richard Yandow, who was sitting up a sail boat.

The girl's father was in Barre at the time of her disappearance and her mother and eight other children did not make known to the authorities until Saturday the fact that the young woman was missing.

The body was clad only in underclothes and the girl's dress and shoes were missing. From wounds on the body foul play at first suggested, but it is said that the autopsy does not bear out such suspicion.

State's Attorney Norton of St. Johnsbury was notified and the state pathologist was called here. It was thought at first that bruises on the head, arms and legs of the young woman had some connection with her death but it is now said they are abrasions caused by some skin disease.

Corcoran of Barre; treasurer, J. L. Livermore of Bellows Falls; state organizer, E. H. Taylor of Rutland; chairman of finance committee, Miss Grace Gleason of Burlington.

The carriers' association elected these officers: President, Joseph B. Flynn of Burlington; vice president, W. H. Farr of Bellows Falls; secretary and treasurer, Harry L. Richardson of Montpelier; delegate to the national convention, Charles Converse of Barre.

The carriers reported an increase of 50 per cent in membership and that only two regular and eight substitute carriers are now members of the national association, membership in that body being a requisite to admission to the state association.

He studied law in Philadelphia and completed a course in the law school of the University of Pennsylvania with the class of 1859. Being compelled to seek a milder climate, he located at Marina, Cal., and obtained admission to the bar of the state. He had an active part in the campaign that resulted in saving California to the Federal cause. He was elected to the assembly and a year later to the state senate. In 1863 he was elected attorney general and later took up the practice of law in San Francisco.

In 1873 he moved to North Bennington. Through his law practice in California he had acquired a considerable fortune, which he invested in banking and railroad enterprises. For eight years he was vice-president of the Panama Railroad Co. and succeeded the president, Trenor W. Park, upon the death of the latter in 1882. In 1884 he was made a director of the Erie Railroad Co. and four years later became chairman of the executive committee of that corporation. He was one of the two receivers appointed in 1893 to reorganize the company. For 10 years he was president of the Chicago & Erie Railroad Co. and filled the same position with the Bennington & Rutland railroad for 15 years. He was president of the First National bank of North Bennington at the time of his death and had been in recent years a director in the Bank of New York, the New York Security & Trust Co., the Fidelity & Casualty Co., the National Life Insurance Co. of Vermont, the American Trading Co. of New York, the New York & Jersey City Tunnel Railroad Co., the Central Vermont Railway Co., the Atchinson, Topeka & Santa Fe Railroad Co., the Lackawanna Steel Co. and other corporations.

He was a regular attendant at the Republican state conventions for more than a quarter of a century. On three occasions he was a delegate to presidential conventions. He was a state senator from Bennington county in 1898 and in 1902 he was elected governor in one of the most vigorously fought campaigns in the history of the state.

He married in 1871 Eliza Hall Park, daughter of Trenor W. Park, who survives, together with four children, Hall Park McCullough, a New York attorney; Mrs. Thornton F. Tuttle of Bennington; Ella S. McCullough of Poughkeepsie, N. Y.; and Esther M. McCullough of North Bennington.

SAVED GIRL COMPANION.
Middlebury College Students Had Very Exciting Experience.

Middlebury, June 1.—Miss Pauline Rowland, daughter of Rev. George M. Rowland, a missionary at Sapporo, Japan, a member of the junior class in Middlebury college, narrowly escaped drowning yesterday at Lake Dunmore, Salisbury, when the canoe which she was occupying with President William Slaters of the senior class in college, capsized. Heroic efforts upon the part of physicians resuscitated the young woman, who was in the water about 10 minutes.

The accident happened about 11:30 o'clock when the canoe was in deep water, a considerable distance east of Slaters' pavilion. The canoe got into the trough of the waves which were running high, and overturned. Mr. Slaters managed to catch his companion by the hair after she had gone down twice. He held her head above water for nearly 10 minutes until help came in a motor boat from the pavilion.

Miss Rowland was brought to Middlebury yesterday afternoon and is reported as recovering from the shock. Mr. Slaters is an expert swimmer and but for that Miss Rowland would have drowned, as she was unconscious when he managed to secure a hold on her hair as she was sinking for the third time.

There was the usual holiday throng at the lake yesterday and many boats were out though the water was rough. Slaters is an expert swimmer and but for that Miss Rowland would have drowned, as she was unconscious when he managed to secure a hold on her hair as she was sinking for the third time.

MUST CONSULT WITH CABINET

Before Discussing German Situation, Says President Wilson

BUT WILL NOT DELAY
U. S. REJOINDER

President in Calm Mood Received Callers at the White House

Washington, D. C., June 1.—President Wilson told his callers to-day that he did not feel it would be wise to discuss Germany's reply to the American note until after he had consulted with the cabinet and studied further the important questions involved. The president said, however, that the American rejoinder would not be many days delayed.

He spoke of having studied the official text last night and of his intention to have a preliminary discussion with the cabinet to-day. He was calm in bearing and showed none of the strain of international problems before him. The president received the Washington correspondents as usual on Tuesday.

The questions concerning domestic affairs had touched the edge of his mind, as he phrased it, not because of the great importance of the international situation. The president revealed that he had not yet drafted a reply to Germany and that it probably would be done after to-day's cabinet meeting.

Tomorrow Count Von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, at his own request will see the president. In well-informed quarters, however, it is said that Von Bernstorff is not in close touch with his government because of the difficulty of communication. The reply is then expected to go forth Thursday or Friday.

President Wilson is said to have been much impressed with virtually the unanimous verdict of American editorial opinion that the German answer is not really an answer, but an evasion of the great issues of law and humanity. Close advisers say he regards the editorial opinion as the true reflection of the opinion of the country, and will endeavor by his action to express it.

While the president himself will give no intimations as to his course, many familiar with his previous attitude thought the American rejoinder would be brief and deemed an early reply. Failure to meet the American representations would, it was freely predicted, result in the severance of diplomatic relations. Such a step is not necessarily to be followed, it was pointed out to-day, by any other step unless American rights are again flagrantly violated.

TWO MONTEPILIER RAIDS.
One Woman Bound Over and Another Too Ill to Appear.

In Montpelier city court this morning Annie Marchi, through her counsel, W. A. Lord, waived examination on the charge of keeping liquor with intent to sell and was bound over to county court in the sum of $300. Bail was furnished by S. Massacoe. The second case, State against liquor with Annie Marchi as keeper, was continued until June 8. There were witnesses in court to testify.

The Marchi woman was arrested this morning on a warrant issued by Grand Juror Threlkeld, following a raid Saturday afternoon at her house. Chief Connolly and Officers Sloan and Baldwin finding a quantity of beer and whiskey, which was taken to the county jail.

A second raid was made by the same officers, armed with a search and seizure warrant, at the house of Mary Iglesias, when more alleged contraband goods were found and transported to jail. The woman was ill to-day and will appear later to answer to the keeping with intent to sell charge.

E. C. Gitchell, a local contractor, was arrested this forenoon on a warrant issued by the grand juror charging him with traveling on the wrong side of the highway with a team. Gitchell is alleged committed two offenses yesterday, once in the morning and again after dinner. Although there have been several autoists arrested for alleged violation of the law, Mr. Gitchell is the first driver of a horse drawn vehicle to be apprehended. His case has been continued for one week.

Stephen Rowell of Lancaster, N. H., who has two wooden legs and travels with a cane, pleaded guilty to intoxication, first offense and was committed to jail for 20 days, being unable to pay a fine and costs amounting to $11.14. Rowell pleaded for time to pay the fine, asserting that he sold pencils to support himself and mother and summertime was the only time he had to make money. He was found by an officer Sunday reclining on the garbage.

FIRE LOSS ON FARWELL STREET.
Barn Destroyed and Two Houses Somewhat Damaged.

A general alarm from box 54 called the firemen and three pieces of fighting equipment to Farwell street at 3:45 o'clock yesterday afternoon for a barn fire in the premises owned by Dr. E. E. Ellis of Brookfield, and occupied by Ornel Blair. The barn was completely destroyed before the firemen arrived and a loss of $350 was entailed in that instance. Before the blaze had been extinguished, fire communicating to the house occupied by the Blair family did damage amounting to $200 and the effect of the fire as it spread to the house occupied by Mrs. Elizabeth Taylor caused a loss of $50 on her property. The firemen put in a half hour of stiff work before the all-out signal was given at 4:15 p. m.

Contents of the barn were of little value, although Mr. Blair sustained a loss of farming implements, a small quantity of hay and three hens on which he has no insurance. It is believed that Dr. Ellis is protected against the loss of the barn and damage done to the house and Mrs. Taylor's loss is covered by insurance.

No one having authority to speak seems to know the origin of the fire. Toward mid-afternoon Mrs. Blair's husband and children left for downtown and the housewife went to Mrs. Taylor's home for a visit. The women were talking about current topics when the conversation was interrupted by a happening outside that diverted their attention at once. A glance toward the barn convinced them that something was wrong and a hasty investigation was followed by a rush for the alarm box. The barn was a loosely constructed affair and burned quickly.

When the firemen arrived they laid two lines of hose and directed most of their energy toward saving the houses. An ell containing a kitchen and chamber in the Blair home was burning fiercely when the first jet of water was turned that way. A large-sized hole showed where the blaze went through the roof and no sooner had the fire been extinguished there than it burst out anew on the wall flanking the site of the barn. Twice Mrs. Taylor's home caught fire, but the loss there was kept down to a minimum by stern resistance to the flames. Both lines of water came through 750 feet of hose and the pressure, according to the firemen, was never very high. Mrs. Blair's neighbors rallied quickly to the assistance of the firemen and her household goods were removed. By 4:30 o'clock all danger of a fire that would sweep both houses had passed and another half-hour saw the blaze completely subdued.

TREMBLAY—INGLIS.
Well Known Young People United in Marriage.

A quiet wedding in which two prominent young people of Barre were the principals was solemnized at the Congregational parsonage on Walnut street Saturday evening when Miss Florence Inglis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Inglis of 24 East street, was united in marriage to Ernest Alfred Tremblay, the pastor, Rev. J. W. Barnett, officiating. The couple were attended by Miss Ethel Inglis and Douglas Inglis, cousins of the bride. Mrs. Tremblay is a graduate of Spaulding high school and has been employed as a cashier at the Smith & Cummings store on North Main street. Mr. Tremblay is a painter in the employ of Miss Alice V. Beckley. They will make their home in Barre.

AUTOS HIT AT CORNER.
One Turned Over But Most of Occupants Escaped Injury.

Around 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon what looked as if it was going to be a serious accident and which really turned out to be not as serious as supposed, happened at the Brook and North Seminary street crossing. An Overland bearing the number 7776, owned by John B. Magnaghi and driven by John Campbell, was bowling along in an easterly direction up Brook street. A Ford car driven and it is said, owned by James Butler of Montpelier, was coming up North Seminary street in a southerly direction.

The Ford struck the runningboard of the larger car and turned completely over, pinning Mr. Butler under it. Three other men were in the car with Butler but all escaped without serious injury. Butler was somewhat shaken up and bruised, but beyond that he escaped harm. There were five occupants in the Overland, including Mr. Magnaghi, and all escaped without harm.

The cars were somewhat badly damaged. On the Ford the radiator was smashed and the windshield demolished. Other parts were jammed and scratched. The Overland sustained injuries on the left side runningboard. Both automobiles were taken to different garages for repairs.

DEATH OF J. GIOVANELLI
Who Was One of Early Italian Stone Cutters in Barre.

John Giovannelli, one of the first Italian stone cutters to come to Barre and a former member of the Barre Citizens' band, passed away at his home on Third street Monday forenoon at 10 o'clock. Mr. Giovannelli's death followed an illness of more than a year, the end being due to an attack of heart trouble. Besides his wife, Mrs. Virginia Giovannelli, the deceased leaves a daughter, Miss Alice Giovannelli. His mother lives in Switzerland.

Mr. Giovannelli was born in Switzerland in September, 1871. He came to Barre as a young man and settled here 25 years ago. His marriage to Mrs. Giovannelli took place 14 years ago. He was for 16 years a faithful employee of Young Bros., following the stone cutter's occupation throughout that period. Possessing unusual talent for music, Mr. Giovannelli early enrolled in the Barre Band and was long identified with that organization as a bass horn player. He belonged to Granite City camp, M. W. of A.

The funeral will be held at the Roman Catholic church at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment will be made in Hope cemetery. It was Mr. Giovannelli's request that flowers be omitted at his funeral.

NATION'S GRIEF
FOR BRAVE SONS WAS AGAIN TOLD

Solemn Exercises of War Veterans Were Recalled in Exercises in Observance of Memorial Day in Barre, and Graves of the Departed Were Garlanded in a Reverent Spirit

ADDRESS WAS GIVEN
BY GEORGE W. STONE

Several Fraternal Orders and Allied Patriotic Organizations Assisted Crandall Post, G. A. R., in Memorial Held in Barre Yesterday—The Exercises Were Held at the Opera House

Memorial day with its recurring memories of solemn chapters in the history of these United States was accorded an observance in Barre yesterday that was worthy of those fine traditions which long ago prompted the setting apart of a special day each year in which the silent dead who struggled not in vain that freedom might obtain were fittingly commemorated. By word of mouth, by the time-honored custom of wreathing graves and by the display of flags on grass grown resting places the gratitude, withal the abiding sorrow, of a nation was proclaimed once more.

Fraternal orders and allied patriotic organizations joined with the Grand Army veterans of R. B. Crandall post, No. 56, in paying tribute to the dead. In the throng which marched to Elmwood in the early forenoon were many whose presence there voiced their own personal sorrow over the departure of loved ones, and if the day originally contemplated a patriotic commemoration of the dead, it accomplished that and more, for Sunday and Monday were marked by the gathering of many people in the cemeteries, nearly all of whom carried flowers to deck the graves of friends and relatives. The parade from depot square to Elmwood was followed by the customary exercises in the opera house, Representative George W. Stone of Vergennes delivering the address. After the program ladies of the G. A. R. served their annual dinner to veterans in the vestry of the Congregational church.

Weather conditions most ideal prevailed. Following a fortnight of lowering temperature, the sun came back into its own on the morning of Memorial day and better marching conditions could not have been desired. Gentle breezes tumbled down from Camel's Hump, but the chilling blast of the past month had wholly disappeared. A June sky, a forerunner of the month of rare days, overtopped all and not once did the weather clerk threaten to become recalcitrant in the matter of serving his best out-door band.

Apart from the more intently significant aspects of Memorial day's observance, the respite from labor which the holiday offered most people was improved on a large scale. There was the usual exodus of folks who spent the day at a distance or at nearby lakes and other outing places. All signs of business activity were absent. Manufacturing plants, mercantile establishments and business offices were closed throughout the day. For the lovers of sport there were baseball games, forenoon and afternoon, at Goddard campus and on the Berlin street grounds. In the evening a large crowd enjoyed the first band concert of the season in city park. A dance given in Highland hall under the auspices of the civic department of the Barre Women's club was well patronized.

There was something very inspiring in the soldierly swing of the columns and in the blare of the band as the paraders fell in line at Depot square. First came the mounted marshals, Capt. C. Newell Barber and George F. Mackay, to be followed by the full complement of the Barre Citizens' band. Then came lackies occupied by the mayor, ex-Mayor L. H. Thurston, himself a G. A. R. man, Rev. George H. Holt and the speaker of the day, members of the city council, veterans and some of the elderly members of the commandery. Next in line was a large detail of commandery men from St. Albans commandery, No. 11, Knights Templar.
